An old cavalry horse was in the shafts and the officer was in a hurry. Taking the reins from the driver he shouted, "Charge!" and away the animal galloped, stopping dead when he reached the barracks at the word "Halt." The next morning an Englishman wanted to catch the boat from the quay, and the driver said: "Sure, your honor, there ain't a horse in old Ireland can go so fast." He cracked his whip and shouted, "Charge!" and away the horse went. Nearing the quay, Pat yelled, "Jump, for Heaven's sake. I've forgotten the password."

Jones—"Caught in the suction of the sinking ship, I felt myself going down, down, down! and presently I began to come up, up, up!" Smith—"Gee whiz, old man! You must have felt like a baseball team."

PANAMA CANAL WILL PLAY PART IN GREAT WAR

[By Latest Mail]

WASHINGTON.—The Panama canal, which will be open to commerce the later part of this week, is destined at the outset to become a strategic highway of the world if the present hostilities between Austria-Hungary and Servia develop into a general conflict involving the other great European powers.

Treaty stipulation provides that the canal, like the Suez canal, "shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations," and "shall never be blockaded, nor shall any right of way be exercised nor any act of hostility be committed within it." The liability of search would be a hazard to Suez and Mediterranean commerce, if the present war clouds burst, and it was pointed out that commercial activities might be more and more curtailed as the parties to the conflict defined more sharply the commodities to be included in contraband of war. It was suggested here that a large part of the Suez commerce might be diverted to Panama.

While the vessels of war as well as of commerce of belligerents may freely use the canal, exact rules have been devised to maintain the strictest neutrality of the waterway. The transit of war vessels must be made with the least possible delay and with only such intermissions as may result from the necessities of the service. No belligerent may "embark or disembark troops, munitions of war or warlike materials in the canal, except in case of accidental hindrance of the transit, and in such case the transit shall be resumed with all possible dispatch."

The treaty providing prohibiting any act of hostility in the canal precludes any war vessel from exercising the right of search of a commercial vessel in transit through the waterway, and this provision likewise protects all ships within three marine miles of either terminal.

MILLIONS FROM SCRAP HEAP

The value of the "secondary metals," exclusive of gold, silver, platinum and iron, recovered in the United States in 1913 was $72,845,000, according to J. P. Dunlop of the United States Geological survey. Even this large figure is a decrease compared with 1912, when the value was $77,396,000.

The term "secondary" is applied to metals recovered from scrap metal, sweepings, skimmings, drosses, etc., as distinguished from "primary metals," which are derived from ore, but without application that the secondary metals are of inferior quality. The survey figures reveal only in a partial way the vast extent of the waste material industry, which yearly becomes greater and better organized. The value of old iron and steel reused exceeds that of remelted brass and the value of old rubber and paper stock amounts to many millions of dollars.

For a few purposes requiring special purity of material it is necessary to employ primary or virgin pig metal, but as a general rule secondary metal can be used in whole or in part, and most foundries use them. Over 90 per cent of refining and smelting of dross and scrap metals in the United States is confined to the territory east of St. Louis and north of the Ohio river.

The amount of secondary copper (including that in brass) recovered during 1913 was 126,590 tons, being over 22 per cent of the primary copper smelted from domestic ores during the year.

The secondary lead recovered amounted to 72,834 tons, equal to nearly 17 per cent of the refined lead produced from domestic ores.

The output of secondary zinc was 79,570 tons, equal to 23 per cent of the production of primary zinc.

The recovery of secondary tin is of especial importance, for practically no domestic tin ore was smelted in the United States, and the secondary tin recovered in 1913 (14,178 tons, valued at $12,576,379) was more than 27 per cent of the tin imported during the year.

In aluminum the recoveries in 1913 amounted to 4,654 tons, valued at $2,199,480.

CHICKEN SINGS LIKE BIRD

[By Latest Mail]

KETTLE FALLS, Wash.—N. B. Wheeler has a wonder in a chicken about a month old that sings like a bird, the tone being rich and clear.

Among a brood of sixteen chickens this little one occasionally moves its wings and sings from one-half to one minute.

The owner for several days heard what he thought was a new song bird and watched for some time and finally was surprised to find that it was the chicken.

"Why do you take such violent dislike to young men for no cause at all?" "Just for fun, ma." And so you show your dislike to others. "It's the quickest way to not get interested, ma."—Editorial at last Journal.

WAR VESSELS IN FAR EAST WATERS

[By Latest Mail]

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Aside from Japan's navy, the international far eastern fleet is made up largely of cruisers. Many of the vessels, however, are more powerful than any of the American war ships that followed Dewey's pennant into Manila Bay sixteen years ago.

Great Britain, including her East Indian squadron, has two battleships, two large cruisers, four light cruisers and thirty-five smaller craft, including gun boats, destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines.

Germany has two armored cruisers, four light cruisers, seven gunboats and two destroyers.

Russia has four light cruisers, eight small gunboats, thirty destroyers and thirty submarines.

The United States has the Orient in the Far East, and cruisers, five gunboats, and submarines.

The American navy in the Philippines and Chinese waters comprises one first class cruiser, two third-class cruisers, ten gun boats, two monitors, five destroyers and a number of auxiliaries.

Professor William Ramsey of England says he doubts the wisdom of prolonging the lives of physically and mentally deficient persons.
